

THE SAGE CREEK TIMES

BRAGGIN' DRAGON STUDENT EDITION

March 9th, 2016

When I Was in 5th grade

By Abbie Folkman

I interviewed my parents about what their experiences were in fifth grade. My mom's teacher was Mr. Warburton. He was tall and skinny and had a sideways smile. My mom enjoyed all of the subjects that she learned in fifth grade but didn't like P.E. as much. Her friends were Stephanie, Crystal, and Sandal. At recess they enjoyed playing four square and handstand contests. Some other things that my mom remembered was that she was bullied one day and a substitute teacher who everyone thought was really mean helped her. Also, her fifth grade teacher came to her wedding reception later.

Sage Creek Dragons are Fired Up to Learn

SAGE CREEK is the best school on earth.
Every Halloween we do a costume parade

around the school but we do it in on Halloween
by Damien Holt

(cont.) My dad's teacher was Mr. Hodgson. He remembered that Mr. Hodgson had a goatee, glasses, and dark hair. Occasionally he would get cross if they misbehaved. My dad enjoyed math but didn't like english. His friends were Cameron, Joel, and David. At recess they liked to play sports. My dad really liked to read. He was part of a book club and read more than five thousand pages in fifth grade! Also, they attached a basketball hoop to the garbage can that they would throw paper balls in. Sometimes they would have slam dunk contests where they would stack desks on top of each other and see who could slam dunk it!

---

---

